Computer eyes

It hurts to tell you I don't really want you

But I know if I leave you, it won't really grieve you

'Cause you really don't have a soul to haunt you

Computer eyes

You made me happy for a while but now I'm going

Coldness that you show me tells me you don't know me

And that leaves our love so little room for growing

Don't want to program making love

I like it real and with feeling

And every time you say you love me, you're thinking of me

It's like I kind of get the feeling that I'm stealing

Computer eyes

I must have been crazy to ever try you

You see, I'm just a human being and I don't like what

I'm seeing

So you're gonna have to find another computer eyes to lie to

Yes, you're gonna have to find another computer eyes to lie to

Computer eyes

You're gonna have to learn to cry

Computer eyes

You're gonna have to learn to cry

Computer eyes

Computer eyes

Computer eyes

Oh, you're gonna have to learn to cry

Computer eyes

Oh, computer eyes

Computer eyes
