I wake up and see the morning light
Past all of the dreams you if he tried
And if I believe in you at all
Then I know you lie again

It's easy for you to be untrue
There's so many stars surrounding you
You make it so hard to trust in you

Just give me your word again
But you never know the meaning
There's no way and no one that will believe in you

Just give me your word again
As you taking all my feelings
We're not knowing
Where are you going
Look and say
Just give me your word

Is it the same for you each day
I used to searching for a way
I look for the joy that we wants knew
Could I leave it up to you

They come and they go
You wonder why
But you cannot see
What you deny
I know you don't hear me
When I cry

Just give me your word again
But you never know the meaning
There's no way and no one that will believe in you

Just give me you your word again
As you taking all my feelings
We're not knowing
Where are you going
Look and say

So if you cause some time tomorrow
I am there to take up your sorrow
Yes I learn to take it day by day

When it gets cold and lonely
I will be there by your side
Maybe then
You will see the price we pay

Just give me your word again
But you never know the meaning
There's no way and no one that will believe in you

Just give me your word again
As you taking all my feelings
We're not knowing
Where are you going
Look and say
Just give me your word

Uhh uhh
Just give me your word
