Verse 1:

A million miles you could say I've been around
I played my part I been living like a clown
There were days that I could hardly say my name

So many times I swore that I would change my ways
Had a vision but it never took it's place
To be honest there are better men for you

So don't you tell me what to do, oh no
No don't you tell me what to say, oh no

Chorus:

'Cause I've been wrong so many times
It feels like home but I've burned it to the ground

No more secrets

I tell you that I cannot hide
An open book with nothing left between the lines

No more secrets

Chorus:

'Cause I've been wrong so many times
It feels like home but I've burned it to the ground

No more secrets

Oh baby I tell you, I tell you that I cannot hide

No more secrets

Bridge:

I'm coming down
I've played my part
Yeah, I'm coming down

Chorus:

'Cause I've been wrong so many times
It feels like home but I've burned it to the ground

No more secrets

'Cause I've been wrong so many times
It feels like home but I've burned it to the ground

No more secrets

I tell you that I cannot hide

No more secrets
