There's an old love refrain that has known the world over

It's sweetness both princes and peasants may claim

Like a bird on the wing or a bee in the clover

No matter the language the song is the same

Go to sleep, my baby, go to sleep

While the stars above begin to peep

They're lighting the windows of Heaven, angels watch over you

From the windows of Heaven, mother's watching you too

Sleep, my baby, sleep

From the windows of Heaven, mother's watching you

Sleep, my baby, sleep
