she was born to be adored to break a thousand hearts or a thousand more first she had to handle all the baggage that she had left for her to carry that would only drive her mad he was born to be ignored to cry a thousand tears maybe a thousand more he never would of dreamed of holding fire in his hand until he saw the reason that he never thought he'd have if you ever want to see me come on over if you ever think that you'll have the time because I've been waiting and I'm just getting older won't you give me a sign she was cool and she was pristine he was one of the biggest dorks she had ever seen but that's ok
the guys who think they're cool are only losers anyway they were born on separate roads it only goes to show you never know the Cinderella story of a guy who never won a girl who took a call not knowing what she had begun
