Last night I had a vission, Things I've never seen,
They were bigger then wishes and better then dreams,
I reached out to touch them, but they slipped through my hands,
Like palm trees and water that turned into sand...

Chorus:

I saw people love people as much as themselves,
There was no need for heaven, no such thing as hell, no hunger, no fighting, no homeless alone in the streets,
Isn't that how it should be

Maybe I'm going crazy, maybe I'm the only one sane,
Or maybe I' just feeling guilty for share of the blame,
I don't have all the answers, hell the questions unclear,
Still I can't help but wonder, what are we doing here...

Repeat Chorus:

Last night I had a vission, Things I've never seen,
They were bigger then wishes and better then dreams.
