

Julian Austin "Diamond"

Visit "Diamond" on MotoLyrics.com he's been playing these small town bars forever and a day it ain't no nine to five livin' but it keeps the bills paid his love for what he does keeps him going living for the people at his shows but he knows he isn't never gettin' nowhere playing the same old honky tonks and rodeos he's got some money saved, fixed up that old truck he's gonna hit the highway, nashville's his next stop he's gonna see his name up in neon lights shining like a star up on stage, all dressed in white sold out shows in every town, just to hear him sing he's gonna see his face in every magazine, billboards, t.v.'s, videos and silver screens he's a diamond in the rough, just waiting to shine he got a break to play one night to play down at the bluebird cafe, when a man walked right after the show and said "son, you got what it takes" he said son i'd like to make you a big star, bigger than all the rest they'll know your name all the way from tokyo to rio from left coast to key west now he's got almost eighty million recods sold signing autographs everywhere he goes now he sees his name up in neon lights shining like a star up on stage, all dressed in white selling out shows in every town, just to hear him sing now he sees his fave in every magazine, billboards, t.v.'s, videos and silver screen now that diamond in the rough, is a diamond that shines lord he shines oh your gonna watch him, oh your gonna watch him shine from houston, dallas, santa fe, nahsville usa, nashville usa

