You said you want your freedom Well that's news to me How Long has it been like this How long have you felt this Way Was it something I did Or something I said It must've
Been hard sleeping in our bed How long have you been a Stranger to me But when did you start Pretending to love Me When did you stop thinking of me How long have I lived
With the lies How long have you lived with the truth And When did you start Not wanting to hold me When did you Stop feeling so lonely When did you start to stop me from Knowing you I guess that explains the late nights That You've been keeping And those out of town trips with work
That last all week And those late night calls When I'd Pick up the phone No one would answer I should've known
Looks like we're strangers again Like the very first time
But when did you start Pretending to love me When did you
Stop thinking of me How long have I lived with the lies How long have you lived with the truth And when did you
Start Not wanting to hold me When did you stop feeling so Lonely When did you start to stop me from knowing you Oh
Girl when did you start to stop me from knowing you
