There's no chance survival,
And no hiding place.
You must be my rival,
I remember your face.
A sweeter denials become familiar to taste

There's no chance survival
And no hiding place

You can live your whole life in a cave, man.
You can learn to love uncertainty.

I want to spent my whole life without secureness regard
For the sweet sweet eternity

You'll be praised for all your weights tonight
You'll be praised by many ages tonight

There's no chance survival
And no sigh to take

A beamless primate with no heart to chase
Something become so common place

I know
There's no chance survival to the flesh now we race

You can live your whole life in a cave, man.
You can learn to love uncertainty.

And you can expect more gainless violence that have blown so far
You cross the, ship the shore to me

We are the golden,
We are the strongs, that it is showing the random calls
Fear the ocean,
Fear the frost
Fear the motion that
We are the old ones,
We are the lost standing comes with the cost

Can't do wrong

Well. you're hiding your smile ally me and I make you save

There's no chance survival but it's now time to waste
