These feelings are mountains
I can't cross or get through
I love you for nothing
But what you were

You lift me above me
I'm coming to save you
Oh God I'm forgetting
To not remember

In a dream, I could see your face
Gotta leave that dream in its place
In the dark, where you are.
To carry on
From a place where all the dying live in the past
To carry on
From a place where all the dying live in the past

Great numbers of pictures
I'm counting and wishing
Replaying the great scenes
In my own movie

These feelings are mountains
Of ether, of water
Dissolving like teardrops
After a while

And in a dream, you were on a road
Leading to where, I don't know
But I won't be sad to see you go

To carry on
From a place where all the dying live in the past
To carry on
From a place where all the dying live in the past
