Could you read it in my face
When I stumbled
But the words wouldn't find their way
To make you see how I feel
So I did it, tried again
Now you say that you're confused
If it's just a trick I'm playing
The damage is still an open wound
You held my hands
A friendly kiss and you were gone
What a fool
Every single awaken hour
There is not a passing day
That I wouldn't think of you
What a fool
I regret the thing I've told you
And if I could take it back
You don't know it, but I would
What a fool
Could I hear it in my voice
When we talked about mistakes
Living without you baby
In a way I can't explain
Made me see how we both changed
Made me want you back again
I couldn't replace you
Just a fool would try
And so I lost you
There you go
All I've shown was all in vain
What a fool
Every single awaken hour
There is not a passing day
That I wouldn't think of you
What a fool
I regret the thing I've told you
And if I could take it back
You don't know it, but I would
What a fool
