One too many times to remember
I've heard your call
And I act all of our conversations

Sometimes you don't know me at all
Sometimes you don't know me at all

One too many days to remember
And I've seen your face
And from years ago to moments away
We come from our different place
Operate in our different space

Yet I feel you
In my solitude
Am I wasting my time
All my time when

I'm the one you know you can run to
I'm the one you know will be good to you
I'm the one who will catch you if ever you fall
Though sometimes you don't know me at all
Sometimes you don't know me at all
No, no, no

One too many times to remember
I've heard your voice
Speak of intellectual inspiration
Will help one to make the right choice
Yeah, I hope that you make the right choice

Cause I feel you
In my solitude
Am I wasting my time
All my time when
I'm the one you know you can run to
I'm the one you know will be good to you
I'm the one who will catch you if ever you fall
Though sometimes you don't know me

I'm the one you know you can run to
I'm the one you know will be true to you

I'm the one who will catch you if ever you fall
Though sometimes you don't know me

Yes I feel you
In my solitude
Am I wasting my time
All my time when

I'm the one you know you can run to
I'm the one you know will be good to you
I'm the one who will catch you if ever you fall
Though sometimes you don't know me

I'm the one you know you can run to
I'm the one you know will be true to you
I'm the one who will catch you if ever you fall
Though sometimes you don't know me

Sometimes you don't know me at all
Sometimes you don't know me at all
Sometimes you don't know me at all
