You were scared, and I was too
The more that I think about it, baby
I can't blame you
I can't say anything
Can't remember my name
Cause my pain is everywhere
When we were the same

We would talk about it
At least we would try
And I can't remember
The day I died
I was just standing there, lookin' at you
My feet on the ground
This sh*t just hit me
Didn't make a sound

Why does it have to be this way?
When we're so
Ready to end this falsery
And I'm dying
I've always been the one to blame
And I'm scared
To face the darkness and the pain
Alone

I can feel this pressure's crushing tone
Like patients waiting for the final blow
In time we found our hearts have turned to stone
How could this love ever fall so low?
Woah

Why does it have to be this way?
When we're so
Ready to end this falsery
And I'm dying
I've always been the one to blame
And I'm scared
To face the darkness and the pain
Alone

Your faith, it lies
Cuts right through you
No place, no time
Can't stop running to you
Your face, it tries
To hide confusion
Our love, is like
A helpless victim

As you feel the sunlight
As you feel the sunlight

Why does it have to be this way?
When we're so
And I'm dying
And I'm scared
To face the darkness and the pain
Alone
