Nights of future passing through my door
Day's pure light is crashing on the shore
Dancing needles reading on the board
We'll find you, we'll bring you more

City nights become our safe harbor
Calling changing sights in bright colors
Dancing breathing push electronic core
We'll find you, we'll bring you home

Could have said what you wanted to
But the night, but the night wouldn't let you through
You could have said what you wanted to
But who wants to think about what we're going through?

Could have said what you wanted to
But the night, but the night wouldn't let you through
You could have said what you wanted to
But who wants to think about what we're going
through?

Mind stays focused as I pray for more
Inside our hearts beat stronger than before
Shattered visions of what's come before
I'll find you, I'll bring you home

Could have said what you wanted to
But the night, but the night wouldn't let you through
You could have said what you wanted to
through?

Bright light
Hits me on the floor
Last night
Now I see much more

Bright light
Hits me on the floor
Last night

Now I see much more

Could have said what you wanted to
But the night, but the night wouldn't let you through
You could have said what you wanted to
But who wants to think about what we're going
through?

Could have said what you wanted to
But the night, but the night wouldn't let you through
You could have said what you wanted to
through?
