Mid-day Baker's Street
Sidewalks with busy feet

Horns are blowing
Rain comin' down in sheets
Mascara runnin' down my cheek
Everyone's rush to get to where they are going

I could have walked away
I could have said no thanks
I'd a been ok
Standing in the rain
It's not what I usually do
But I said if there's room for two
I stand under it with you
And we would talk away the afternoon
Thank God for that
My blue umbrella

You called and I called back

The band was too loud
The dinner took forever
We didn't really care
There was something in the air

You can blame it on the weather

Offer me your umbrella

I could have walked away
I could have said no thanks
I'd a been ok
Standing in the rain
It's not what I usually do
But I said if there's room for two
I stand under it with you
And we would talk away the afternoon
Thank God for that
My blue umbrella

I hate to think about what if
What I missed

Rolled away
Sunny day

If I had brought my umbrella
I could have walked away
I could have said no thanks
I'd a been ok
Standing in the rain
It's not what I would usually do
But I said if there's room for two
I stand under it with you
And we'd talk away the afternoon
Thank God I forgot
My blue umbrella
Thank God I forgot
My blue umbrella
