

Julio Iglesias

"I Don't Want To Wake You"

Visit "I Don't Want To Wake You" on MotoLyrics.com

While you're lying asleep, you're painting a picture
That I always keep in my mind
Stay with the dream, good ones are hard to find

The warmth of your hand, your breath on my skin
And the rise and the fall of your breast
Takes me away, puts all my troubles to rest

There are so many things that I should tell you
That a man doesn't always know how
There's an ache and it's breaking me open
But I don't want to wake you right now

I open my eyes, you're lying beside me
Keeping me warm in the night
I never thought loving could be so right

If I had my way, I'd gather my wishes
And whisper them all in your ear
I never knew Heaven could be so near

There are so many things that I should tell you
That a man doesn't always know how
There's an ache and it's breaking me open
But I don't want to wake you right now

While you're lying asleep, you're painting a picture
That I'll always keep in my mind
I'll always keep in my mind

Visit Julio Iglesias page on MotoLyrics.com, to get more lyrics and videos.