Your eyes are burning through me
From there across the room
I try and not be too obvious
I won't speak too soon
It's the way the light falls on you
The way your skin's reflecting perfectly

Your hair falls on your shoulders
You're running your hands through
You take a drink of your diet coke
My mind is drinking you
And I try and not be too obvious
You've got me thinking things I shouldn't be

I want to be a gentleman
As gentle as a saint for you
I want to be a gentleman
You make it so hard to do

When you move
You move like that
You dress like that
You stare like that
You move like that
You dress like that
You stare like that
You move like that
You love like that

I want to tell you everything
But I let you set the pace
And you move a little move a little Until we're face to face
Don't worry about it baby
Everybody knows your coming home with me
Where you'll wrap your legs around me
I'll toss you on your back
I feel like I've waited a hundred years
To hear you breathing like that (!)
It's the way the music holds you
The way we fit together perfectly

I want to be a gentleman
As gentle as a saint for you
I want to be a gentleman
You make it so hard to do

When you move
You move like that
You dress like that
You stare like that
You move like that
You dress like that
You stare like that
You move like that

Let's move this thing upstairs
I wanna taste the skin you wear
It's the things you do
The way you move
The things you do the way you move
You're on fire
Yeah

When you move
You move like that
You dress like that
You stare like that
You move like that
You dress like that
You stare like that
You move like that
