I am walking
Through the landscape of my dreams
Where night is always
Falling on empty streets
And my trees shake and whisper age
And it sounds just like your voice
Reminding me.

All around the world it sounds the same
All around the world it sounds the same
And all around the world it sounds the same
When angels fall
And devils call your name.

I've been sleeping
Ever since you left that day
All of these nightmares
They've haunted me while I'm awake
But now I know there are no ghosts
But I still see your face
And my eyes are closed.

All around the world it sounds the same
All around the world it sounds the same
And all around the world it sounds the same
When angels fall
And devils call your name.

Sounds the same wherever you go
The tears that fall will follow you
And every time you cry for me
I'll know.

All around the world it sounds the same
All around the world it sounds the same
And all around the world it sounds the same
When angels fall
And devils call your name.
