Ceramic tile fluorescent, yellow iodine
I can feel your presence
Sedated by the heavy medicine
And come around, come around, come around

The flowers aren't worth keepin', roses broke my skin
I'll pretend you're sleepin'
Or you fainted from the lack of oxygen
And come around, come around

Don't leave me here to let you down
Now I'm goin' home
And I've been patient, I've waited a lifetime
Now I'm goin' home
And I am tired of waitin' a lifetime

Sentimental letters, brightly colored ink
Sayin', 'Please get better'
I'll place them by the lilies in the sink
And come around, come around

Don't leave me here to let you down
Now I'm goin' home
And I've been patient, I've waited a lifetime
Now I'm goin' home
And I am tired of waitin' a lifetime

If you could feel it, I'd give a kiss
If it would get through, I'd whisper this
Not while you're sleepin'
In my safe keepin'

Faded iridescence from your silhouette
A stare illuminates
I haven't given up on you just yet
And come around, come around

Don't leave me here to let you down
Now I'm goin' home
And I've been patient, I've waited a lifetime
Now I'm goin' home
And I am tired of waitin' a lifetime

Now I'm goin' home
And I've been patient, I've waited a lifetime
Now I'm goin' home
I am tired of waitin' a lifetime
Now I'm goin' home
