I hear you prayin', your dreams would be takin' you far from here

So tired of waiting, your heart must be breaking in two while you do

With all the things in the world that you're trying to do Does what I'm trying to say get through to you

So wish that I could read your mind
Understand what you hide in your heart
Then maybe, baby, I could help you see how loved you
are

Wish that I could find the words
That would echo inside of your soul
'Cause then, my friend, you'd know He loves you so
God loves you so

I have a confession for all your hard questions
The answers may not seem clear There's no use pretending
'Cause we're all out here spinning our wheels, so it feels Only one knows your heart what you hope to become Do you know who you're running from or to

So wish that I could read your mind
Understand what you hide in your heart
are

Wish that I could find the words
That would echo inside of your soul
'Cause then, my friend, you'd know He loves you so
God loves you so

My love is strong but not strong enough
I'll give you all that I have, it wouldn't matter that much
So instead of promises I'll just be honest 'Cause I won't always be around and I know my love will let you down

So wish that I could read your mind

Understand what you hide in your heart
Then maybe, baby, I could help you see how loved you
are

So wish that I could read your mind
Understand what you hide in your heart
Then maybe, baby, I could help you see how loved you
are

Wish that I could find the words
That would echo inside of your soul
'Cause then, my friend, you'd know He loves you so

Wish that I could read your mind
Understand what you hide in your heart
Then maybe, baby, I could help you see how loved you
are

Wish that I could find the words
That would echo inside of your soul
'Cause then, my friend, you'd know He loves you so

Wish that I could read your mind
Understand what you hide in your heart
Then maybe, baby, I could help you see how loved you
are

Wish that I could find the words
That would echo inside of your soul
'Cause then, my friend, you'd know He loves you so
