Upset lately
It's days like these that take away what's left of me
Or what's to come
Is it dangerous to walk back now?
Another season to erase bad memories
And wash away what's underneath

I'll get by without you
I'll pull it off somehow
Just one taste of light will set my head at ease

Just a constant quick reminder
Now and then
The haze will clear again
Wait you'll see it end
If I ever forget
The fortune we had
Turn my body away
Before I leave it, so say

I'll get by without you
I'll pull it off somehow

Just one taste of light will set my head at ease

Every day, more mundane
The world turns pink to the darkest grey
I wipe my morning eyes and travel on with the words
I've sworn

Forget me
But hear the melody
Cures the storm
Gives us an easy way home
Radio
Signals come in clear
Lead me to that place that I call home

I'll get by without you
I'll pull it off somehow
Keep my word from sinking every single day
I'll get by without you

I pulled it off somehow
You're the only place in my light I call home
