Can this be real?
Is she really laying next to me?
The city speaks through her window singing me to sleep
I feel like I'm getting into this too deep
So

I've got your voice
Singing in my head
Always find a way, a way to pull me in too
But I can't have you
You've got his eyes
Burning in your mood
He looks at you and you fall apart on cue
I lay without you

I can't take this anymore here, you're winning Always coming back to push for more
I'm pushing

Can this be real?
Is she really laying next to me?
The city speaks through her window singing me to sleep
I feel like I'm getting into this too deep
So

Like you intentionally
Pull me off my feet
Always looked my way oh it's safe to say that
"Now I need you"
Then I come in close
I see you look exposed
Get to thinking about the situation you're in now
You're often wanted

I can't take this anymore, you're waiting
Always coming back wanting to push for more
I'm pushing
Start pushing

Can this be real?

Is she really laying next to me?
The city speaks through her window singing me to sleep
I feel like I'm getting into this too deep
So
I begin to feel your head as you lay it on my chest
You say you feel safe but baby so do all the rest
So how do I know this isn't just a test, no?

How do you sway?
Don't you know I would rather let it suffocate?
This constant feeling I'm finished enough to take I'm too stupid I know
I'd like to keep the losing short
Gotta stop struggling for nothing
Please set me free, from me

Can this be real?
Is she really laying next to me?
The city speaks through her window singing me to sleep
I feel like I'm getting into this too deep
So
I begin to feel your head as you lay it on my chest
You say you feel safe but baby so do all the rest
So how do I know this isn't just a test, no?

How do you sway?
Don't you know I would rather let it suffocate?
This constant feeling unfinished rough to take
How do you sway?
Don't you know I would rather let it suffocate?
This constant feeling unfinished rough to take
