

June Carter Cash "Without A Love To Call My Own"

Visit "Without A Love To Call My Own" on MotoLyrics.com

The tears in my eyes have a home till I cry
And then they have a cheek to fall back on
The birds in the sky have a mate until it's time to die
But I don't have a love to call my own

Lovebirds come in pairs, they have someone who cares
And that's one thing that I have never known
They heather love within for shelter from the winter
wind
And me, without a love, not a single solitary love
And me, without a love to call my own

Lovebirds come in pairs, they have someone who cares
And that's one thing that I have never known
They heather love within for shelter from the winter's
wind
And me, without a love, not a single solitary love
And me, without a love to call my own

Visit June Carter Cash page on MotoLyrics.com, to get more lyrics and videos.