we wanted you for a song to carry us aloft. to sing every note from the moonlit rooftops on your skin. i feellike i'm in a dream, caught under some invisible force smothering me. we will always see you there by the window, amazed by your form in the soft glow. there was no mystique left in this misery, watching cars slide up and down the highway i wanted more i wanted more. you could have said there's no hope but you didn't. the only truth we ever needed to know. i'd love to sleep but it's so strange that our lives can just go on and on this way. limbs. i feel like i'm in a dream, caught under some invisible force smothering me. i wanted more i wanted more time.
