I'll hold my breath till I pass out
You'll choke until your lungs give out
These words are not worth telling at all
But ever since you got up and just left
Things have been oh so just right and feels like today,
The whole world is watching me

Take a deep breath and let it out slow
Faster, faster, I've got places to go

I've got places to go
So cross your finger cause you're gonna need
All the luck that you can get
I don't think I only know
I don't try I only do and I know I said this once before
But don't worry, I'm not locking the door
Cause I know you'll always come back around

The whole world's eyes are on me
Whenever, where ever we go
No one will have to know.
