Fast forward through your mind
I'll be there in time
I'll be here, you'll be there, suck the marrow out of life
But don't choke on the bone, don't choke on your words
Just speak them fast and I'll figure out the rest

Cause I was at the wrong place, at the wrong time
I know you think it's crazy,
But maybe we could have made it out of here, out of here alive
But now I'm just a voice that's singing, the back of your head
All the songs that make you wanna forget
All the memories, memories what had.

So take five, take a break from life
I know your taking your time, taking your time
On what you decide
Making it right, making everything just fine.

There's a place I hear and it's not too far Maybe we can get away and find out who we really are Just keep singing that song that we had, that's been stuck in your head
