this is not a test, not a test don't carry any secrets do you think that i can see you i know it's late i need you to open my chest, my chest fix whatever you need to be fixed so long as i can hold you breathe in rhythm with you its all that i've waited for this is payback for all of the words that never meant enough to keep me concerned every homesick letter that never had the strength to find your door

this is just enough to keep me concerned with every hope i had that you would return and now i've learned that you've become everything i've once hated
still dependent

this is torturous, torturous so close i can feel your touch i'd be patient but i lust for you i'll do anything you want me to i'll be the best chance take you take lost in the rhythm our bodies lay girl you know i lust for you i'll do anything you want me to

every homesick letter that never had the strength to

and if all i can do is just sit and wait for you then i guess i'll just be waiting till the end oh i guess i'll just be waiting till the end
