Woke up this morning with a sigh
Put on some shoes and took a walk outside
Needed a break from my daily routine
I think y'all know what I mean

Oh man, wait is this real
Things out here ain't normally how they feel
Maybe it's 'cause I never ever been up this early, no

This day when I step outside
I see things so clearly
It's gonna make my eyes cry
I made the choice to return home
Now my life just ain't my own

And when I breathe I can taste the air
Never will I live my life again in fear
Died to my flesh yet my flesh is still here
Take this new life and I hold it so near

Woke up this morning with a feeling
My life has changed, the price has been paid
And this is a secret that I won't take to my grave, no way

Oh man, I know how you feel
Fill in the blank, make the void take a break
But I know a way where the filler's not temporary

So now that I tell you
What are you thinking about?
What, how to change 'cause you've seen me before

And now you want what I got
So now I say to take Him in
And your life will never be the same again
