"Safe"

It's safe for everyone. Clean jokes and cleaner fun Come bring the kids and wife. Stay safe and stay alive.

We'll close and lock the doors, to keep the bad ones out That's how we'll show them just how good it is inside this house

They'd hurt our young, they'd steal our time They'd eat our bread and drink our wine.

I'd rather fail a thousand times than live in fear and never try

It's safe and quiet now, far from the seething crowds Who clamor for what they deserve, those sinners sure do have some nerve,
We've earned our right to live in peace by choosing Christ and living quietly

A thousand times I'd rather fall than be afraid to move at all After all what is this thing that you call grace? And is it safe?
