When your hand touches mine and when your eye catches mine
When your smile grabs my soul and your heart holds mine
When your hair is so soft and your lips are like gold
It's when your face is art and you're Van Gogh
That's when I'll ask

Chorus:

Is there life after you
Is there love after you
Is there light after you
But you're mine.. so let him go

You're the horizon in my sky and now I'm drowning in your eyes
I'll write your name in the sand and protect it from the tide
So cut my lip once more before goodbyes
And then I'll ask

Chorus

I will, I will, I will find you when you're gone
I will, I will, I will find you, yes I'll find you
I will, I will find you when you're gone

If I was your sunflower I'd point to your sunny face
And I'd be roots to find the tears and dry them away
So I'll cross those tracks
And I'll give all that's in me to make you happy
And then I'll ask

Chorus
