Skies without stars
All the nights without you
I watch the world
From a room without a view

For you left me with so few memories
And I could close my eyes and cling to
Just a fading photograph
I'd sometimes sink to

All those smiles unexplored
All the words left unsaid
We strung our dreams
On and all to slender thread

For you left me with so few memories
And I could close my eyes and cling to
Just a half-remembered tune
I'd sometimes sing to

But I found what we lost
Time was all, all it cost
Love was always there
Knowing someday I would share
In a life-long love affair with you

Love was always there
Knowing someday I would share
In a life-long love affair with you
In a life-long love affair with you
