Maybe it was to learn how to love
Maybe it was to learn how to leave
Or maybe it was for the games that we played
Maybe it was to learn how to choose
Maybe it was to learn how to lose
Or maybe it was for love that we met

Love was everything they said it would be
And love made sweet and sad the same
But love forgot to make me too blind to see
You're chickening out, aren't you?
You're bangin' on the beach like an old tin drum
I can't wait for you to make the whole kingdom come so
I'm leavin'

Maybe it was to learn how to fight
Maybe it was to lessen our pride
Maybe it's just nature's way
Maybe it was to learn how to laugh
Maybe it was to learn to cry
Or maybe it was for the love then we met

Love was everything they said it would be
Love made sweet and sad the same
And love forgot to make me too blind to see
You're chickening out, aren't you?
You're bangin' on the beach like an old tin drum
I cant wait for you to make the whole kingdom come so
I'm leavin'

First I turn to you then I turn away
So you try to hurt me back
Oh it breaks your body down
So you try to love bigger better still
But it is too late

So take a lesson from the strangeness you feel
And know you'll never be the same
And find it in your heart to kneel down and say
"I gave my love didn't I?
And I gave it big sometimes
And I gave it in my own sweet time, I'm just leaving"

I'm just leaving
