"Change The World"

Visit "Change The World" on MotoLyrics.com

You're looking for a cause
You need a villain to resist
Because your hope is lost
Without this, you feel meaningless
You point your finger round
There's nobody you can trust
You point your finger round
And all that's left is us

You always need someone to blame

You think you're something else

But you're just following the herd
And soon time will tell
Your own undoing's in your words
And as the world burns down
You'll cast your eyes up to the sky
And as the world burns down
You'll scream how could I be so blind?

Stand up and fight to change your life
