Take Your Time

I think i said all i can say

Using up all my potions and spells tonight

You will find out when you pull through

That I fought too

So take your time close your eyes

I will be there here with you

They may be right I may be foolish

But I will wait with you

Skin is so pale I see through

Bones are like glass they won't let me touch you

Pray to the sky I wanna see a proof

Why'd he choose you

So take your time the odds are high

But I believe in you

They may be right

There maybe some design

But I will wait with you

I am here to fight

For only love decides

Only love decides

I am here to fight

For only love decides

In the morning light

I will wake to find you

Opening your eyes
