

Adam Brand "Charleville"

Visit "Charleville" on MotoLyrics.com

I met her at a disco at the school of arts hotel
The kind of place that some girls won't attend The moon shone over Edward Street and later I could tell I'd never be a lonely man again.
In Charleville, In Charleville, there is a pretty little woman who'll says she'll say I will
In Charleville, In Charleville, there is a pretty little woman who'll says she'll say I will We're gonna' have a wedding cake that's twenty layers high Fifteen hundred family and friends We'll cook ourselves a dozen lambs and drink the district dry
Whip around the hat and we'll start again.
In Charleville, In Charleville, there is a pretty little woman who'll says she'll say I will
In Charleville, In Charleville, there is a pretty little
woman who'll says she'll say I will
And I've seen girls in Paris to humble any man, I've seen earls embarrassed by models in Milan I've seen enough to know the only girl I need to see is waiting back in Charleville for me.

Visit Adam Brand page on MotoLyrics.com, to get more lyrics and videos.