"Destiny's Path"

Our life is a never ending circle
Of power and success
The thought of being part of it
Makes your existence lonely and depressive

You'd freak out if you didn't had the opportunity
To escape the real world once in a while
To let yourself go with the flow of the music
And express yourself to the rhythm of the dance floor

Prowling in a temporary ecstasy
And overcoming the feeling of loneliness
Letting the music penetrate your subconsciousness
'Til it's taken full control over you

This is when you realize that you were born
And that you're gonna die without having any influence in it
But you can break through the boundaries
Cause it's your life and your future

It's destiny's path
