I'm finding it hard to put pieces together there's so much missing here never known which road to take, which way to turn,
always seeing the signs but never slowed down to understand

I was heading in the wrong direction always worrying about a whole lot of nothing trying to forget a lot of things on my mind too many bad memories

Is there anyone out there who believes, is there anyway to set my mind free?

Why should I cry anymore
coz everything you've said I'd heard it before
so please
somebody help me so many times I could've sworn I heard you walk through that door so many things I wish I'd said to you you never quite realise what you have until its gone, now I know that I've lost you

Is there anyone out there who believes, is there anyway to set my soul free?
Why should I cry anymore
coz everything you've said I'd heard it before
so please
somebody help me
everywhere I look everywhere I turn
there's memories of you,
I miss you

I know I'll see your face again, someday

I know you're watching over me

Why should I cry anymore
everything you've said I'd heard it before
so please
somebody help me
everywhere I look
everywhere I turn
there's memories of you,
I miss you

I oh I miss you
