It's clear now you're too far away
It's been too long, you won't consider it
I follow a lighted path, well beaten
I'm looking for the switch back, it's not so easy

I've read your words line by empty line
True, my fate deserves destiny denied
But I can't go on watching patience lie

So in my dreams
We'll share this dance together
And I'll never wake
I'll keep my eyes closed forever
I try not to worry, I try not to think about it
I was never in a hurry I never had to complicate my
