

Casey James

"Undone"

Visit "Undone" on MotoLyrics.com

Peace of mind sometimes depends
On the path your heart's been travelin'
Mine's been broken, mine's been bruised
It's fallen hard a time or two
And up 'til now I didn't know who could save me

I've searched around enough to know
About holding on and letting go
And finally I've found the one
That makes me come undone, yeah yea

Now the bad bad news don't sound so hard
Long lonely miles don't stretch too far
I ain't up all night praying for sleep
My empty pockets don't feel so deep
Whatever you're doing, baby, keep it coming

I've searched around enough to know
About holding on and letting go
Finally I've found the one
That makes me come undone

Yeah undone, like the clouds pouring out a perfect rain
Undone, like the grace of heaven healing my pain
You lying in my arms, me whispering your name
Won't ever be the same

Well, I've searched around enough to know
About holding on and letting go
Yeah and finally I've found the one
Well I've found the one
That makes me come undone

Oh you make me come undone

Visit Casey James page on MotoLyrics.com, to get more lyrics and videos.