we fucking have to push push against the grain to make this a better place for you and for me
for all of us humanity
and yes at times i feel like giving up i feel like giving in and yes it is up to us to help this world from drowning in the end

But we must push for change
But we must push for change
But we must push for change

No greed
No lies
We need a new way of life

You take what we have to help the ones the ones that need to help them survive
