Too bad that you didn't try
The vows you gave you never kept
You know how much I tried
For our love I handed tough everything

And you tell me that the fire has gone off
We're going through a phase or it doesn't matter
anymore
You can leave don't think about it much
If you see that the glass has cracked

You think my love that if you leave I'll be lost
That life will no longer have meaning for me
You think I'll cry but I'm not crazy
A new day will come in the morning

Too bad for everything we've lived
You tell me that we have closen our circle
You know that it is unfair
That our love will have no tomorrow

And you tell me that the fire has gone off
We're going through a phase or it doesn't matter
anymore
You can leave, don't think about it much

(you think, you think, you think++)

You think my love that if you leave I'll be lost
That life will no longer have meaning for me
You thÃ¬nk I'll cry but I'm not crazy
