Mother can you hold me
one more time again whisper "I still love you" in my ear mother did you lie would you tell me why there is something deeper that I fear justify the malice I portray daggers in the darkness find your way when the moon is full and piercing bright drench me with your innocence tonight

don't you want to die
walk beside me evermore
don't you feel alive
like you've never felt before visions of the future unprofound and blurred I have passed the point of no return

let me keep my beauty one more day

souls transcending, silver shine
your blood preserves my place in time
