You walk near the river
And you hope for the best
You just want a change
You write down all of your dreams
You wonder if spelling them out
Will make them come to life

You're searching for something
You're learning your story
You want all you can get your hands on

You wander moving farther
Away from all those foolish mistakes
You want all of your love
And I want too, want to bring it back to you

I walk near the ocean
And I've got you on my mind
I wonder if you're still alive
I write down words about you
I wonder if pouring them out
Will somehow make a change

I'm wishing you'd find it
I'm hearing your footsteps
I still feel I need you all the same

How can you give anything to me
When are still finding yourself?
