"Contagious"

your heart beats in rhythm with mine breaking as you go tonight melting inside
as you departed with jupiter we walked through the forest
the ground holds the key you told me that maybe you never loved me

i was so afraid of us and now i know why you are dangerous tried not to keep with you but you pulled me closer as i learned how to make us you are contagious

i tried not to notice the signs your words so unkind you stayed far too long in my life

this is the sound that is made when my heart hits the ground i react to the loss of you time turning faster but i turn much slower embracing my empty life
