Heaven lies in realizing
What you truly want
I cannot explain the way you reach me
If you want to cradle me
In all that you've become
I will submit gladly
I will take it

When the night falls
I cover my eyes
If the sky falls
I'll show you where to hide
If I borrow
Your courage to stand
I can follow you

Treading toward a solitary
Road to walk alone
I look back to see if you are leaving
I can drain your energy
To keep as my own
One of my bad habits crashes down

You cast your shadow
Along what I wished for
I promise to find
Where my strength lies inside
