You'll never grow up
Never release your illusions
And I gave up
I didn't believe you could change

This is not a storybook
No happy ending

I never expected too much
You never wanted to touch
The sky for me
But still you see that
We will never be the same
Nothing will ever change

You'll never come back
I have learned not to wish for that
And I'll always be left
Wondering if there was something
More I could have...

This is not a movie
No resolution in the final scene

Tangled in everything you said to me
Someone come and save me please
