Shadows fall on all our souls
So much has been taken
Whispering into the echoes
We've been forsaken

So much loss has found us
We're holding on for our lives
How much loss can we take?
Will hope soon revive in us?

Winter turned to a bitter spring
Meanwhile still suffering
Summer came but the sadness remains
We're in dire need of saving

Floating through a river
Our sound is finding us again
Maybe we've turned the corner
Knowing that were never given more than we can bear
We'll sail on
Oh yes we'll keep on sailing on
