Stolen Thunder
A Spell that we're under
Let no man put asunder
All this time by your side

Burning ember
I know you remember
We will not sever
All these ties
No surprise there

If I falter lay me in the water
Bring me back to life
Return to me tonight

I never thought you'd understand
I never expected to fall again
I never thought we'd make things right
But here we are tonight

Last December
You told me you'd surrender
But I wasn't ready for you then
Tell me when

If I stumble bail me out of trouble
Stand right next to me
And let everybody see

Listen, I can hear the sound of thunder
Is it really any wonder that we're right back here again?
Never really over, like the war for a wounded soldier
Like our youth when we get older
I could feel it right then
So stay right near me
If I speak I want to know you hear me
If I see I want to see it clearly
And I'll never let you go
In these breezes lies the past and we must release it
To the grip of time
And freeze it to the form, to the storm
