Your hands map out our world
Too many storms have filled our skies
But I can't seem to make the decision
To leave you and build a better life

We live in the dead sea
Wrapped in sorrows
This is very strange
I've forgotten your name
We'll never recover
The spark that ignited the flame
I am too afraid

No truth is greater than the next one
But sadly the truth for us is a tidal wave

We live in the dead sea
Wrapped in sorrows
This is very strange
I've forgotten your name
We'll never recover
The spark that ignited the flame
I am too afraid

No one knows what you know
But still you cannot reach the can
No one sees what you see
But you're not what you used to be

We live in the dead sea
Wrapped in sorrows
This is very strange
I've forgotten your name
We'll never recover
The spark that ignited the flame
I am too afraid
