

Casey Stratton

"When The Fates Came"

Visit "When The Fates Came" on MotoLyrics.com

A famous shade of grey coming around again
A quiet rage that is making it's sound again

When the fates came and destroyed me
When the choice was made to set your soul free
I knew right then no one could save me
So I laid in the water that would take me down

What lies beneath is almost darker than grieving
So day by day I get closer to leaving

When the fates came and destroyed me
When the choice was made to set your soul free
I knew right then no one could save me
So I laid in the water that would take me down

Maybe I have learned the hard way
Maybe I can't see an always
All I trusted, all I wanted
Was taken away

When the fates came and destroyed me
When the choice was made to set your soul free
I knew right then no one could save me
So I laid in the water that would take me down

When the fates came and destroyed me
When the choice was made to set your soul free
I knew right then no one could save me
So I laid in the water that would take me down

When the fates came and destroyed me
When the choice was made to set your soul free
I knew right then no one could save me
So I laid in the water that would take me down

Visit Casey Stratton page on MotoLyrics.com, to get more lyrics and videos.